Apes Elvis, Wins BG Talent Show

BELLE GLADE — Teenager Joan Beardon, whose father is a fireman, proved to be the siren of the Malcolm Miller Talent Scout contest at the Hugo Theatre last week as she walked off with the $100 first prize in the contest finale.

Joan did a smashing imitation of Elvis Presley in singing "Heartbreak Hotel" and "Blue Suede Shoes." She was also given a loving cup awarded by A. E. "Slick" Kirkman.

Terry Beller McWhorter, a pianist, won second place and with it $50 cash and a two-month pass to the Hugo. Dividing up the third award — a four month movie pass — is a male quartet of B. B. Braddock, J. C. Womack, Dan Jones and Charles Schoenfeld.

Last Night For BG Elks Teeners

BELLE GLADE — The Elks Club Teen Center will draw its summer activities to a close this week.

The slow dance contest was won last week by Ronnie Perkins and Georgiann Mills. Silver dollars for the winners were donated by Robert Davis of Lake Buick Co. The preceding week, the pop contest winners, Brad Whitlock and Jane Kirkman, received silver dollars donated by Jack Royals of Western Auto.

Chaperones for last week's Friday night program were Mr. and Mrs. Garold McKee, Mrs. George Wedgworth, Mrs. Ted Roman, Mrs. Otis Hayes, Mrs. Mel Thompson, Mrs. George Goff, and Elks Ted Irvine, Emmett Roberts, Eddie Crosby and Carl Cone.

SCHOOLS OPEN TUESDAY

QUIET MRS. DOUTHIT READY FOR SECOND QUARTER CENTURY OF TEACHING IN PAHOKEE

PAHOKEE — Reclining for the past several years on the desk of Clyde Canipe, principal of Pahokee schools, has been a giant-size toy eighth ball. When students ask screwball questions, he's been able to give the eight-ball a flip, and a flip-type answer surfaces in the toy.

With the 1956-57 school year opening on Tuesday, Principal Canipe would like to shrivel up and hide behind the eight-ball all because Tuesday is the day Teacher Mrs. Cleo Douthit is a quiet, retiring soul who leaves fuss and ado to others.

For on Tuesday, Mrs. Douthit will begin her 25th year of teaching, and all her 25 professional years have been spent in Pahokee schools.

What Canipe cannot figure out is how Mrs. Douthit's tutorial silver anniversary could have slipped by last term without anyone's noticing it.

Mrs. Douthit is a native of Georgia. She obtained her teaching certificate from Georgia Women's College in June of 1931, and three months later began her Pahokee teaching.

Her first year of teaching was her toughest, she says. She started with 50 pupils in her third grade, and the enrollment kept increasing. Finally, the class was split, some of the super-teaching this week in a West district being transferred to Canal Point school.

She's been teaching the third grade in Pahokee ever since, and has had several students whose

BG COUNCIL AT PEACE

BELLE GLADE — All was peace and quiet on the local political front as city commission held another recessed meeting Wednesday night.

Wrangling was absolutely absent as commissioners accepted an assortment of bids and held informal discussions on the new city budget and city employees' wage hikes.

No mention was made of the controversial water/sewerage disposal bond issue which was withdrawn from the Sept. 11 election ballot last week in a stormy session.

Only fireworks at the Wednesday night meeting came from representatives of the Florida-Georgia Tractor Co. of Miami, which had submitted the low bid on a new power grader the commission decided to buy to push construction of new streets.

Cleveland Motor Company was awarded the contract for the new grader, on a bid of $14,950, F.O.B. Belle Glade.

The Miami company claimed its bid was $1,782 lower and included $90 worth of better tires. The commission dismissed the Miami protest on the grounds that better service would be forthcoming from the local firm.

Glades Equipment Co., Inc. was awarded a contract for a new garbage truck chassis on the basis of its low bid. Glades Machine Corp. submitted the only bid for the garbage truck body, which was duly accepted.

In the budget discussions, tentative agreement was reached to grant a 15 percent raise to city employees in the $175-per-month brackets, and 10 percent to the group in the over-$225 bracket.

The commission recessed to meet again for a budget session next Wednesday night.

VACATION DAZE FIRE — Clouds of dense smoke rolled out of this burning 2-story frame business/apartment building on Lake Ave. in Pahokee's Negro section last Friday morning. Fire Chief Marvin Lewis reported that the fire started from an oil stove, causing extensive damage. Belongings of about 20 families were destroyed. With some volunteer firemen on vacation, only two firemen reported for duty at the blaze. Boxes were manned by untrained Negroes.

GARBAGE WARRANTS COMING

PAHOKEE — Next week, as court warrants are prepared against delinquent garbage taxpayers, they will be served and persons owing back fees for garbage collection will be hauled into city court. City Council ruled Tuesday night. Some delinquent bills run as high as $108. Council was informed by the City Clerk's office.

Services Held For David M. Lovell

PAHOKEE — Services for David Milton Lovell, 67, who died Saturday afternoon of coronary thrombosis, were held Monday at 2:30 p.m. at Pahokee First Baptist Church with Rev. James E. Boyd, pastor, officiating. Rev. Boyd was assisted by Rev. John Cooper, pastor of South Bay Baptist Church. Burial was at Port Mayaca Cemetery.

Mr. Lovell, born in Humboldt, Tenn., was a pioneer farmer of the Glades area, having lived here since 1925. He had farmed independently until late in the 1930's, later acting as foreman at different times for several large farming interests. He also served for a number of years on the Pahokee police force.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Agnew Beatrice Lovell; two sons, Roy L. of South Bay, and Sam, Belle Glade; one daughter, Mrs. Joyce Hyatt; three brothers, H. T. Lovell, Humboldt, Tenn.; Odell and Eugene, Russell, Tenn.; two sisters, Miss Agnes Lovell, Medina, Tenn., and Mrs. Rebecca King, of New York, N.Y.; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Active pallbearers were Colvin Holt, Joe Guerry, Sr., Owen Rogers, Carmen Salva, and Shelton Campbell and William McCleintan.

Honorary pallbearers were R. P. Fletcher, Lloyd Hundley, B. Elliott, L. I. Maloy, Leo Maxwell and Joe Alderman.

Funeral Home was in charge.

FR. MARTIN BEATS STORK, ADMINISTERS SACRAMENT

PAHOKEE — Rev. Walter G. Martin, vicar of Church of St. John the Apostle here and Holy Nativity in Pahokee, won a race with the stork early Monday morning to perform a rite of the Episcopal church.

When Mrs. William B. Kimbell called from Belle Glade Memorial Hospital, Father Martin took off and sped through the quiet streets toward the hospital. There, he administered the sacrament of Holy Communion to both Mr. and Mrs. Kimbell before she was rushed to the delivery room, shortly after 4 p.m.

The Kimbells became the parents of twins, a boy and a girl — and Father Martin had carried out a priestly obligation in record time.

Public Invited To Dedication Of Pahokee's Boy Scout Beach

PAHOKEE — Boy Scout Troop 28, the top Scout unit in the Gulfstream Council largely because of the all-out community-wide support it has received, tonight will give partial reimbursement to its supporters.

Occasion of the payment-in-kind of its gratitude will be a special dedication of "Boy Scout Beach" on the waterfront of Pahokee Harbor north of the breakwater, according to Scoutmaster Louis F. Mims.

Dedication ceremonies consist of an all-Scout entertainment program beginning at 8 p.m. The Scouts have designated it "Parents' Night," but Scoutmasters Lindse, Ed Carver and Jap Lindrose urge all of the public to attend, and see for themselves progress Scouts have made.

Feature of the entertainment program will be authentic Indian ceremonial dances, comedy skits and Scout singing, and demonstrations of Scout crafts.

Dedication of the Boy Scout Beach is milestone in itself. Troop 28 has worked on this project all summer and has cleared away rocks and debris.

Deputy Sheriff Bobby Newman of Belle Glade went to Baganz's quarters at the West Apartments in Chesapeake and learned from neighbors that Mrs. Baganz was vacationing in Philadelphia, and that she assumed the feed manager was also on vacation.

Newman reported that company officer said Baganz was last seen on Saturday, when he was to have made a business call at Butternut Dairy, on Highway 99.

The sheriff's office organized a search party of about 20 men, which found Baganz in a weak condition resting in a field. It was believed Baganz had started walking toward Indian Trail Ranch, had lost his spectacles in brush, and thereupon lost his bearing.

Baganz, who moved to Belle Glade from Philadelphia last year, suffered from exposure and from numerous mosquito bites.

Gov. Leroy Collins, now nationally known as No. 1 industrial ambassador of Florida, uses the Florida Development Commission extensively as a source of information on construction, waterpower, land availability and all the other aspects of the state in which industry eyes.

Smith's trip will be to get a firsthand view of Glades industrial potentialities for a year. For a look, and I urge all Glades businessmen to come out next Thursday to meet its representatives, he said.

Pahokee Nixes Base Cut

PAHOKEE — In two night sessions totalling eight full hours of discussion and deliberation, Pahokee City Council this week:

Mrs. Doris Sasser Resigns From W-W

PAHOKEE — Mrs. Doris Sasser has resigned as office manager of Vandegrift-Williams Farms, Inc., President Boy Vandegrift announced this week. Eustis Blackwell, Mrs. Sasser's assistant for seven years, will take her place.

Known as one of the few women executives in the Glades produce industry, Mrs. Sasser was office manager for nine years with W-W. During World War II, she had worked for the original company, P. M. Tate, Inc.

A native of Wauchula, Mrs. Sasser came to Pahokee in 1930 from Ft. Pierce, as bookkeeper for International Harvester. She was in public accounting work from 1930 until the outbreak of the war, then went to Miami as the first woman auditor in 1946.

Mrs. Sasser's future work plans, she said this week, consist of assisting her husband, Paul, in Glades Oil Co., Inc. and Paul's Service, the latter a Shell dealership and recap plant.

Mrs. Sasser's resignation was announced yesterday by President Claude Shirley that Howard A. Smith, field executive of the Florida Development Commission, will be here next week.

Smith will take a three-day look at the Glades cities and surrounding area, with a sharp eye on labor availability and real estate, Shirley said.

A public, Dutch dinner next Thursday at 7 p.m. at Belle Glade Country Club will introduce Smith to Glades residents from Canal Point to Clewiston.

All persons in all Glades communities are invited to come to this unity dinner," Shirley said.

A truck bearing the identification of "Palm Beach County Sign & Paint Department" draws to a stop in Canal Point. Its crew disembarks and paints lane and parking lines on streets in the municipality. All at no cost to Canal Point residents.

Meanwhile, Pahokee's enterprising city street department embarks on a project to paint stop signs on pavements at all intersections for the first time in history. Cost is about $200-$250, and the painting will be done perhaps three times a year.

Our best wishes are extended to residents of Canal Point. May you ever maintain your unincorporated municipality, and ever keep a county commissioner in the back yard so you can get work done free by the county — at the cost of county taxpayers in Pahokee and Belle Glade and elsewhere.

Democratic members of the Florida House of Representatives hold a caucus and decide they'll penalize counties electing Republicans to their august body. With the November elections in the offing, that's really asking for trouble.

— PED —

South Florida residents would do their Yankee friends a favor if they drop in hunting some nice spot to build a Florida residence — namely, help 'em stay out of the dried-up lowlands as per FCD's warning this week. Otherwise, think how silly it'll look when the rains come and new houses float floating around like leaves on a stream.

BY WIN PENDLETON

BIG QUESTION: How will Florida go in November? For Eisenhower again? Don't be too sure.

Two or three weeks ago, you couldn't get much argument out of the Democrats on that one. Now things look different. Is it the Democratic platform? Is the President losing some of his popularity? Are people afraid of Nixon? Is it Kefauver's name on the ticket? Is it segregation?

No, it's none of these. It's a case of a new "force" being added to the upcoming Florida campaign. Remember, all the voters haven't made up their minds. Thousands and thousands of them are waiting to be convinced. Campaigns still can determine elections.

So, if this new "force" that wasn't at work in Florida last time is strong enough — the scales might tip toward the Stevenson — Kefauver ticket. It will take only a bit more than a 5% gain to swing the state.)

Sun Today May Hurt Tomorrow

Overdoing the sun this summer, instead of giving you that fashionable tan you seek, may result only in an "overdone" look — red, blistered, painful as it appears. Repeated year after year, this parching procedure can push premature wrinkles, leave blemishes no cosmetic can cure, according to beauty experts.

Their advice is to take your tanning in small doses, wear dark glasses, and hide under an umbrella now and then. Don't forego frequent sun-bath in the sun. And at the first sore sign, cover up.

If you do get stung by too much sun — treat it carefully as you would any burn. Dip into the first-aid kit that should always accompany beach excursions and quickly apply "Vaseline" petroleum jelly.

When you get home, take a lukewarm shower and gently coat yourself again with the ointment jelly. Do not recommend that you wrap yourself in cotton or flannel and lie down for at least a half hour. Keep clothing loose — and stay out of the sun for a few weeks.

Remember, one careless season can ruin a whole year's skin-care. Don't let it happen to you!

Farmers Will Be Able To Get Ample Credit

GAINESVILLE — Ample credit is available to Florida farmers in the year ahead. "It looks like the farmers are in a better credit situation this year than they were last year," a report released by the University of Florida Agricultural Extension Service declares.

The statement was made by a credit outlook committee of three men who came up with these conclusions after peering into the economic situation for 1956-57.

John R. Butler, of the Farmers Home Administration heads the group, and was assisted by James W. Richardson, of the Florida Bankers Association and J. B. Dye, Jr., of the Florida Agricultural Research Institute.

Short term credit for qualified farmers is available from banks. Production Credit Associations, and FHA. Long-term credit is provided by individuals, life insurance companies, commercial banks, the Federal Land Bank and the FHA. The committee believes interest rates are likely to stay the same.

The chief demand for credit by Florida farmers will be for the usual operating requirements and mechanizing. Manufacturers and dealers in fertilizers and pesticides at present don't indicate any major changes in credit policy during the coming season. Some feed dealers, hatcherymen and processors are continuing to supply credit for the production of broilers and for growing replacement pullets for the laying flock.

smooth sand beach for swimming. In the grove nearby, the Scouts have trimmed trees and set up four permanent iron picnic tables and built a barbecue pit.

The Boy Scout Beach is being dedicated as a public playground and picnic area, available for use by Pahokians and the public-at-large, Mims said. It is the only improved picnic area on the Pahokee waterfront. The Scout beach project has marked the "full circle" of community service which was initiated by the Lions Club in sponsoring the re-birth of the Pahokee troop two years ago. Since then, Lions and other clubs and individuals have outdone themselves in making the Scout project successful.

Typical of the community spirit which has gone into Scout endeavors was the recent purchase of a 66-passenger bus to tote Scouts on long cross-state trips.

To raise money to buy the bus Lion members went wading in the low waters of Lake Okechobee to salvage submerged iron equipment used 20 years ago to build the lake levee. Among those helping salvage were Manning Keen, Clyde Canipe, Ralph Johnson, Marvin Cowart, Bob Schroder, Duncan Padgett, James Harry Wilkinson, jr., Bob Simonson, Joe Alderman, Lewis Friend, Jimmy Thomas and the three Scoutmasters.

Tow trucks for the salvage operations were donated by Stanley Chevrolet, Pahokee Motors, and Mims. And the trucks of Glades Chemical Co., Simonson, Friend and Wilkinson carted off five loads of scrap which brought $581 in cash for the Scout bus purchase. As fine as the Pahokee Scout program is, Scoutmaster Mims believes "we've only scratched the surface of what we can do with these boys." He says that Pahokee's support of the troop is nothing less than phenomenal. An example, Mims says, is how Pahokee gasoline dealers rotate in furnishing free gas for Scout trips. Participating in this rotation are L. L. Shirley, Johnny Wilson, J. V. Thomas, Paul Sasser and Dick Byington. And Frank Shaughnessy and Glades Equipment Company renovated the new bus at wholesale cost.

The Glades and the Jet Age

The Challenge of the Immediate Future

Will the Jet Age by-pass the Glades?

Possibly — for to capitalize on the Jet Age, positive action must be taken by Glades leaders. It must be taken now, too, for the Jet Age waiteth not for the slow-of-mind.

There is little evidence yet that Glades leaders are shaping their thoughts and actions towards capitalizing on the coming industrialization of Palm Beach County.

If Pratt & Whitney's announced plans to establish a giant plant north of Loxahatchee materialize, the payroll will reputedly be the largest industrial goldmine in the state. The Glades could profit.

County and coast officials and financial opportunists gird themselves for the influx of men and money that the new industry will mean. Glades leaders must pick up the cue and make positive plans, too.

What can Glades leaders do? Plenty. They can take steps to make it attractive for the many new families of Pratt & Whitney personnel to live in the Glades. For the steady year-round income of factory workers would bolster and shore up the seasonal economy of the Glades.

More important, GLADES LEADERS CAN ASSERT THE INITIATIVE TO MAKE CONDITIONS FAVORABLE FOR THE INFLUX OF OTHER NEW INDUSTRIES TO THE GLADES. For any huge industry such as Pratt & Whitney is inevitably followed into an area by smaller industries of both related and unrelated natures.

BLUEPRINT

Specifically, these must be accomplished to attract new industries and/or new residents to the Glades:

1. The County Resources and Development Board must readjust its Gladeswise thinking to benefit all the Glades and not merely individual Glades RDB members.

2. The new Glades RDB must quickly emerge from the organizational stage and set about doing something concrete to attract new industries to the Glades area. (See P. 1 Story)

3. Belle Glade must find a financially feasible way to install a sewage disposal system and improve its water system. Its present home-septic-tank method of handling sewage is a present health threat, and if an epidemic such as amoebic dysentery should occur, an embargo could be placed on the movement of Glades vegetable produce. TO PROGRESS WITH THE JET AGE, BELLE GLADE MUST HAVE A CITY-WIDE SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM.

4. Pahokee must further define and develop its policy of granting tax exemptions to new businesses.

5. All cities in the Glades must further develop their natural and man-made recreation facilities. The shores of Lake Okeechobee can be developed into one of the nation's foremost water playgrounds and in fact be a magnet to draw new residents to the area.

6. Retail merchants have the most to gain from their respective communities keeping pace with Palm Beach County's Jet Age. They must insist upon their local government officials taking positive action to draw new residents to the area.

More important, retail merchants must seek — and find — new methods of purchasing goods, of merchandising goods, of promoting and advertising their wares and services, in order to build their sales and make it more attractive — price-wise and selection-wise — for Glades people to do their purchasing in the Glades.

CONCLUSION: The Glades can profit from the coming of the Jet Age to Palm Beach County. But to do so, all citizens must look keenly at the immediate future and plan and take action accordingly.

GLADES OBSERVER goes on record hereby to offer its facilities and its influence to bring about Glades progress. Let's all cooperate toward that end — for a greater Glades.

Canada, stretching across the Continent from the booming headlines of Newfoundland to the rugged and picturesque shores of the Pacific in British Columbia, is a country that simply abounds in still and motion picture photographic possibilities. BLUE DEVILS, BELLE GLADE COULD SURPRISE SUNCOAST

Will Pahokee and Belle Glade football teams be on the bottom looking up at Suncoast Conference standings once the grid season gets underway?

Yes, predicts a coast newspaper in surveying the outlook of the upcoming Suncoast Conference.

No, says GLADES OBSERVER, if sheer willingness and spirit have anything to do with how football fortunes bounce, figuratively.

Coach Web Bell of Pahokee, whose Blue Devils were surprise champs two years ago and finished in the number two slot last year, was as soon as his men have a pre-season low rating, for this will give the Blue Devils plenty of psychological room for surprise upsets.

Mentor Jim Maynor, new at the Belle Glade helm, sees plenty of justification for the predictions concerning his Ramblers, for admittedly they were conference doormats last year.

But Maynor notes an upsurge in team spirit, has a host of men fighting all-out for starting positions, and has the enthusiastic backing of the Belle Glade community. Anything, he says, can happen — and may.

At any rate, neither coach is going to lose time in putting on the pads and getting down to brass-tacks work. Tomorrow is the first day of high school football, can legally suit up in football gear.

Both coaches could wait until Monday, as coast schools are doing, for contact work. But both Bell and Maynor have scheduled full-scale blood and thunder workouts for tomorrow—probably the only Saturday work their squads will indulge in all season.

2 Die In Bad CP Accident

CANAL POINT — Two men were killed in a vehicle accident on Connors Highway 1 1/2 miles east of here last Friday when an empty auto-carrier truck and trailer plowed into the rear of a tractor spray rig owned by Lewis Flied of Pahokee.

According to the State Highway Patrol, the truck was driven by Clyde B. Morton, 44, of Albertville, Ala., who evidently fell asleep at the wheel. He was killed as the impact threw him from the truck cab, the truck hitting him against a tree.

Driver of the tractor rig was Ben F. Godwin, 43-year old Negro, who died from drowning when the rig was knocked into the nearby canal and pinned him underneath, according to the patrol report.

MOTION SICKNESS

There are three types of motion sickness: seasickness, train sickness, and car sickness. Each is capable of causing an attack of motion sickness which may affect 10 to 30 per cent of inexperienced travelers.

The motion designated "seasickness" is actually the rise and fall of the vehicle. It is common to planes and to automobiles. It is common to all vehicles and pitch mostly to boats.

Numerous devices have been tried for smoothing out the movements of transportation vehicles and many twists and jolts have been eliminated. However motion sickness is as prevalent as ever.

Persons having internal ear damage are frequently found to be immune to the sickness. This is because functioning internal ear organs are necessary before there can be susceptibility to the condition.

Symptoms of motion sickness are common and known to most all persons. First there is drowsiness, then pallor, cold sweating, salivation and vomiting. There seems to be no connection between the type of person and motion sickness because the calm individual is as likely to have an attack as the nervous person.

For a number of years physicians have been working with various drugs that appeared to afford considerable relief. Now there are several which have proved themselves sufficiently safe to be prescribed for patients.

The principal drawbacks are that even the most effective drugs are not protect all people. Some will cause drowsiness while others have different side effects. A few have to be taken every few hours to be effective and others offer relief when taken each 24 hours.

It is becoming easier for the physician to recommend drugs for motion sickness for results of extensive tests are providing him with more successful remedies. He should be consulted because he is the only one who is able to consider all factors in their correct relationship and then prescribe the most effective drug.

BC Kindergarten Registration

BELLE GLADE — Mrs. William Thibault, chairman of the Woman's Club committee for the Belle Glade kindergarten, has announced that registration will be at the Presbyterian Church Tuesday morning. The kindergarten, sponsored by the club, is for children who will be eligible to enter first grade in the public school in September 1957. Weeks.

Taken under advisement by the board were the applications of Old Boe and Armstrong. Quarters. Boe said his business and residential valuations had gone from $8,700 to $25,240, and the guy had his rose-colored glasses on and I want him to come up tomorrow with his pen.

Council agreed that there was something out of kilter, and requested Hunnicutt staff chief Sam Cook to take another look. Elliott asked that he, too, be given a chance to have his property get another look, and Council told Cook to do so if he "sees it as justifiable."

On the denials, Mrs. Alma W. Farrow, president of Vann's, simply replied: "Thanks very much, anyhow," when Council denied the company's application, rescinding its Monday night action granting the reduction.

Elliott said that at the time his residence was built, six years ago, the accurate contract cost of $10,000 was turned in for its assessment, but that the new evaluation raised that to $29,330. He said this was the first time he had appeared before the equalization board in 34 years of residence. Even if the millage is lowered, he pointed out, his taxes would be increased by $115 at 10 mills.

Cook replied that valuations are based on present-day replacement costs, and that if Mr. Elliott will sell that house (for the original $13,000 assessment) then the replacement valuation is too high, indeed.

Later, at Elliott's request, Cook was told to relook at the property if he deemed it advisable.

Lloyd Hundley appeared to say that he and "some of the other boys" questioned the extra valuation on front footage of farmlands on Batem Point Rd. Hundley and Bob Aplegren appeared for Moore Farms, and Weeks asked that all frontage assessments be taken off the farmlands of Batem Point Rd. within the city limits.

After considerable discussion, Councilman Wilder moved ed that the front footage valuation be lowered on farmlands.

Councilman John Hatton seconded the motion. At this point Joe Hatton, asked: "How much does this involve? You will have to make it up at some other spot — you had better think about it." Tucker again reiterated that except for a few isolated cases, it seemed to him personally that the Hunnicutt valuations as they stand are "a fair starting base" to equalize taxes and broaden the base, and should be given a chance to work.

Dr. E. J. Graham wanted to know if valuations in business and residential areas had also "been broken down." Tucker replied that only one had been lowered. Graham said that that any changes in the Hunnicutt valuations as set up are "putting in a wedge to upset the whole thing." He asked that the present structure be given a trial.

Hatton withdrew his second to the motion to lower the front footage valuation. Councilman Blanche Armstrong moved that the application be denied, Hatton seconded, and the motion passed.

After the regular Council session was called, R. O. Crosby presented the engineers plat for his proposed duplex subdivision in colored town. Council accepted the plat, contingent on adoption of a zoning ordinance affecting the area, and with the stipulation that the subdivider build the streets.
